

AMOCO setting its sights on six new wells in '93

Bruce Campbell
Staff Writer

AMOCO announced it will be drilling at least six new wells in the Elk Point - Lindbergh area this year, during the AMOCO Open House at King George's Hall Tuesday.

Randy Best, an engineer from Calgary, said four of the six wells will use horizontal drilling while the other two will use a slant process.

Horizontal drilling is a relatively new concept in drilling which allows the drilling pipe to run through the entire oil play rather than a vertical drill which can only draw from a specific point on the play.

A horizontal drilling allows for only one well to be used on a field rather than a vertical drilling which could have wells placed 10 metres apart along the field, Best explained.

Last September, AMOCO used a horizontal well for the first time at a well at 8B-10-T56R6W4. The well has been producing between 30 and 40 cubic-metres a day, according to Best.

He predicted the new horizontal wells will produce approximately 25 to 30 cubic-metres a day each, while the slant wells will produce around 10 cubic-metres a day.

350 wells in production.

Ron Johnson, operating centre superintendent for AMOCO, said there are 873 wells in the Elk Point area, 350 of which are currently producing.

If there is a dramatic change in oil prices in 1993 more wells may go on line.

AMOCO drilled six well in 1992, four of which were productive, one broke even and the other was dry.

AMOCO averaged approximately 2,406 cubic-metres of heavy oil a day in 1992, according to Johnson.

Johnson also explained the options available to landowners for surface rights.

The first option has landowners receiving $700 a year for the first additional well, $350 a year for the second additional well and $200 for each additional well.

Landowners have the option of receiving a flat rate of $200 a year for the first additional well and a $500 a year production bonus for each additional well which produces oil that year.

The second option is not available to pad sites, applies only to new locations in 1993 and there are no retroactive payments.

Johnson also said he didn't anticipate any reduction in employees for AMOCO saying the "right-sizing" of employees is virtually complete.

There are currently 58 employees at AMOCO in Elk Point down from 70 in 1990.

MAY 3-9

Town hosts ratepayers annual meeting

The Town of Elk Point held their Annual Ratepayers Meeting on April 27, with a small but interested audience in attendance.

Under the chairmanship of Sid Holthe, the Town's 1992 financial report was perused in some detail. The report indicated a $40,771 operating surplus for the municipality in 1992.

Mayor Ed Buck gave his report, saying that the difficulties brought about by senior governments were making the new term of office a learning process for the new councillors. The new assessment, and the delayed Alberta budget which has left municipalities in limbo, plus the decrease in per capita grants has resulted in a hard time setting out the Town's budget. Appeals of the new assessment are a definite possibility, and could result in changes in tax income. The Mayor outlined the result of the municipal budget deliberations the previous evening (see Budget, this page) and told the ratepayers that the operation of the Elk Point Recreation Park is being tendered out to the Elk Point Golf and Country Club for a fixed fee.

The Mayor also noted that $11 million in assessed property is not currently subject to taxes, including property owned by the Town, County, hospital, Agricultural Society, M.D. of St. Paul Foundation, Northern Lights Library System, Elks Lodge, the churches and the stockyards. These would be worth a total in excess of $200,000 in taxes, and although some cannot be taxed, "it makes it difficult to

Budget finalized

Elk Point's mill rate for municipal operations has been set, Mayor Ed Buck announced at Tuesday's Annual Meeting of Ratepayers. The Town's final budget discussions took up a large part of Monday's regular meeting of Council, and resulted in a budget which has been trimmed in every possible area.

If the Provincial Planning Fund, School Foundation, County of St. Paul and M.D. of St. Paul Foundation requisitions remain at last year's levels of .148 mills, 3.644 mills, 8.325 mills and .175 mills respectively, Elk Point ratepayers should be looking at totals of 19.232 mills for residential and 23.876 mills for non-residential taxes. Of this, 8.223 mills will go for General Municipal Purposes, .361 mills to pay for the 1992 General Assessment, one half mill each for Water and Sewer Reserves and Pavement Reserves, one mill each for General Reserves and Non-Residential Levy.

CANDA HEALTH DAY PROCLAIMED - Charlotte Engstrom (left) of Elk Point Municipal Hospital and Susan MacKinnon, President of the Hospital Auxiliary, witnessed the proclamation of Friday, May 7 as Canada Health Day in Elk Point. The public is invited to the Canada Health Day event at the Hospital, which will include a tea, bazaar and bake sale, information booths and a blood pressure clinic.

Matthews sets new record

Bruce Campbell
Staff Writer

For 14-year-old Joni Matthews being the best in Alberta was only a hop, skip and a jump away.

Matthews, a member of the North East Alberta Track Club, set a new Alberta indoor record in the triple jump for midget girls at the Saskatoon Kinsmen Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday.

Her record-setting leap of 10.28 metres came while she was competing in the senior women's open triple jump - two age categories higher than her midget status.

She finished fourth in the women's triple jump and took home gold medals in the midget girls 300 metres and long jump.

She was named the Top Athlete of the Meet for her record-setting performance.

It was her jump she was talking about after the meet.

"After I got out of the pit, I looked back to see where I had landed and I knew it was the farthest I had ever jumped," Matthews said. Matthews said that when she was informed by NEAT coach Reg Green that she had set a record "I was so happy, I started jumping up in the air and then my dad hugged me."

"It was great."

Matthews said when she was heading down the runway she was thinking, "I had to jump off the board and reach out as far as I could - and fly like an eagle."

Matthews earned first-place in the midget girls' 300-metres with a time of 42.85. Her leap of 4.81 metres in the long jump was good for first place in the midget girls' category.

NEAT picked up eight other medals from its athletes besides from the two Matthews took home.

Jeremy Brown, 16, of Dewberry won a gold medal in the juvenile boys' 300 metres balance the budget."

Elk Point's water system is operating near break-even, the Mayor said, and mentioned the additional month for which residents will enjoy an additional four cubic metres of water at no extra charge, to allow for lawn and garden watering.

Mayor Buck said the Town and the County of St. Paul have agreed in principle to consider working toward the incorporation of community services with F.G. Miller High School when it is upgraded. The incorporated portion would have to be financially feasible and the Town would have to pay their share of both construction and operating costs. Regarding the latter, the Mayor noted that the Town bears the cost of operating the current Community Services Centre with tax dollars, and that this would continue to be done. The project would have to have community organizations involved as well, the mayor said, and some of the groups who previously committed funding to the earlier planned community centre have indicated they would be willing to take part.

The Town is also looking at operating the three seniors residences now under the jurisdiction of the M.D. of St. Paul Foundation on their own, Mayor Buck said.

"With better and tighter management, Elk Point can still be a desirable place to live," the Mayor concluded.

Utilities Committee spokesman Bill Schumacher reported that the department is getting ready for water pumping. The committee is concerned with the downloading from the Provincial government with respect to inspections, which will soon become the responsibility of the Town. The committee feels it would be costly to train someone to do these inspections, or to contract the work out. The Town is looking at pavement patching, but further improvements are not in the budget.

Mae Hendrickson reported on the Airport Commission, and told the ratepayers about the plans to extend the runway at a cost of $420,000, of which $252,000 would be borne by the Province, $125,000 by the Canadian Business Aircraft Association and $25,000 by the County of St. Paul, leaving $17,500 to be paid by the Town, although no final decisions have been made and talks between the CBAA and Province are ongoing. The Town currently spends approximately $6000 per year for their share of operation and maintenance of the airport. It was noted that if de-icing of the runway is required, this will be done on a user-pay basis. The County of St. Paul has accepted the responsibility of cleaning the runways.

Betty Callbeck reported a busy year for Elk Point Library and its board. The 1992 membership totalled 992, of which 525 were town residents. The total is down 3 percent from 1991, but circulation has risen 4 percent. A Friends of the Library group has been established and has obtained a bingo licence, with three successful bingos providing much needed funds to the library. Librarian Doreen Mayner is retiring, and the Board will be reviewing the position in the fall. The Board is working on a five year plan of service. The Library is now automated, with workers currently completing the entry of data. Lawrence Pidluzny, formerly the Council rep on the Library Board, said the library was once just an archive, but broke even financially. Now, thanks to the efforts he attributed to former Councillor Adele Mandryk, "it's a place of gathering, a focal point of cultural growth. I feel it is money well spent."

Ms Callbeck also reported on the Northern Lights Library System, which set up first a temporary office and then their new headquarters in Elk Point during 1992. The System has provided computer equipment, resource sharing, reference book collections and considerable saving on library materials for member libraries, including Elk Point, and has trained staff available to help the staff of those libraries better fill the needs of the public.

The Community Services Board report was made by Lawrence Pidluzny, who said it was one of the busiest boards he has ever been part of. He listed a bewildering number of projects and programs undertaken in the past year, from help with seniors' income tax in January to the Christmas Bird Count in December.

Pidluzny also reported on the Economic Development Committee, saying that "very little" has actually been done, although there are a few ideas being explored, and the committee is working with Jean Champagne of St. Paul - Smoky Lake Community Futures on some ideas. The committee supports the idea of the community and school complex. They have looked at beautification, but find the concept is "hard to force people into." Elk Point recently became part of the Northeast Alberta Market Place, which involves setting up a data base of products and services to match up with the needs of northeastern communities, and will hopefully encourage buying within the region. The membership fee of $1 per capita is being shared by the Town, the County and Community Futures. The committee is encouraging the Chamber of Commerce to set up an Alberta Best course in the area. Vern King said the Chamber is presently getting an Economic Development Committee going to take the initiative and see what can be done with the area's economy.

Betty Callbeck reported on behalf of the Safety and Environment Committee. The Fire Department currently has a full roster of 25 firefighters, and has obtained a new rescue van in 1992. The Town's fire truck had recent repairs. The Town's disaster plan has been updated and the committee is currently working on developing a safety plan for the Town.

Mayor Buck, in his capacity as the Town's representative, reported on the County of St. Paul Board of Education.

Modernization of F.G. Miller will be undertaken, with $100,000 allotted to upgrade science labs and teaching area. This can be tied in to future modernization, and Buck said that the Board and Town are discussing tying in community functions as well. He reported on "an historic meeting" for the Board, at which for the first time ever, they held a full budget meeting. "It wasn't easy to convince them to do that," he said. This gave Board members an opportunity to question a portion of the budget. The Town of Elk Point's costs for education have not been established to this point, Buck said.

A written report was sent in by the Town's Hospital Board representative Orest Capjack, noting that it has been "a very positive year" with renovations and addition approved and underway.

Mayor Buck's closing remarks dealt with the future. "We will have to look at new ideas, and drift away from what we have known as the norm, or our community will be left behind." In the past, the mayor said, Elk Point has "lived off the grant system. Now it's going to end, and we will have to grasp our situation and figure out how to finance our own projects."

with a time of 38.48. While his brother, Nathan Brown, won a silver in the bantam boys' 60-metres in a time of 11.27.

Jason Cabaj, from Bonnyville, won two medals taking first place in the bantam boys' 500 metres and was second in the 1,000 metres.

Louise Robert, also from Bonnyville, took home a bronze in the bantam girls' 300-metres in a time of 48.21. Erica Nielsen of Elk Point was fourth in that race finishing at 48.28. Nielsen also finished fourth in the bantam girls' 500 metres.

NEAT's next meet is tentatively scheduled for May 15 in Lethbridge.

The fact that we live with electricity shouldn't come as a shock.

Electricity is a fact of life. In fact, it's so much a part of everyday life that people forget the potential for accidents. Contact with overhead power lines or exposed wires can cause serious injury. Even faulty household appliances and electrical plugs can deliver enough current to kill an adult. Understanding how electricity works can keep you and those close to you, safe. When it comes to electricity, what you don't know can hurt you. For more information on electrical safety, call your local Alberta Power office.

What's Happening At COMMUNITY SERVICES

Mark your calendars! Canada's Fitweek officially kicks off May 28 to June 6, 1993. Be part of the world's largest annual celebration of Active living. Fitweek encourages all Canadians to get involved, whether its on your own, with friends, family or the entire community.

Canada's Fitweek events and activities take place anywhere there are people. What can you do??

1. Sneaker Day

- Host an event in your area that gets everyone active and wearing their sneakers.

2. Do It Daily ... For Life!

- A week of activities in elementary and secondary schools promoting quality daily physical activities during Fitweek and beyond.

3. MOGA Madness

- High school students organize this national youth active living challenge for the Most Outrageous Group Activity.

4. Spacetrak 2000

- Those 55 years can move collectively a distance that equals a journey through the entire solar system. The challenge began in 1990 at Pluto and plans to reach Jupiter for the 1993 Fitweek campaign. The goal is to complete the journey by the year 2000.

5. Shift Shuffle

- Adaptable to any workplace, this program is geared to production workers, promoting activities appropriate to the worksite, the community, or in the home.

6. Walking Project

- Put pride in your stride and participate in Canada's favorite physical activity. Move-it Canada! Enjoy the benefits of walking during Canada's Fitweek Celebrations.

7. Cycling Project

- Get ready to roll during Fitweek '93. Cycling is an excellent opportunity to enjoy the benefits of healthy living as well as being friendly to the environment.

Wild and Wacky Fitweek event ideas could include: Staff-student tug-of-war, midnight golf tournament, Photocopy hoppy (anyone who has to make copies on the photocopier has to hop on one foot while they are making their copies), big wheel/little wheel challenge (kids challenge their parents to see who can cycle the most kilometers during Fitweek), take an exercise break instead of a coffee break, bed or bathtub races and more!

If you'd like to participate in the planning of Fitweek events or if you'd just like some more information call 724-3800.

HELP! COMMUNITY CALENDAR IN JEOPARDY!

Help! We need sponsorship to run the Community Calendar. Unfortunately there is no money left and if there is no sponsorship there will be no Calendars in the months to come. One of the goals of the Community Calendar was to get it published for a minimum of one year. After a full year, enough information would be gathered to get a picture of all of Elk Point's annual events. This information could then be used as a reference to plan your group/business event without duplicating activities. Does anyone have any ideas on how to save this project? Call 724-3800 with your ideas or if you can help out with this community project.

CALLING ALL WALKERS!

Are you interested in: Walking for pleasure? Getting fit? Staying in shape? Taking a break? Companionship and good times?

If you're interested in these reasons, or if you have reasons of your own, come out to the Elk Point Elementary School every Monday and Wednesday at 7:00 and join us for a walk!

NEW ALZHEIMER PUBLICATIONS

Community Services has recently received two new publications by the Alzheimer movement in Canada. They are:

1) "Alzheimer Disease: A Handbook for Alberta Caregivers", this book addresses concerns for caregivers specific to Alberta such as legal and placement issues. It also addresses concerns for both the professional and family caregivers and gives an explanation of Alzheimer's disease.

2) "Guidelines for Care", was written in response to the need for direction to ensure that people with Alzheimer disease receive the type of care that reflects the unique nature of the disease. The guidelines are based on the assumption that all older adults, regardless of circumstances, are entitled to quality care.

Call Community Services at 724-3800 for more information.

Third place went to (back row, left) Sandy and Helen McMillan, Gwen and Bill Garnett of Vermilion, while the Joe Fontaine rink from St. Paul finished fourth.

From the forts

Louise Crane

A new season is bringing new and wonderful programs for Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre. The first weekend we are open to the public is May 15 and 16, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. That weekend we will pay tribute to the museums and cultural education programs. Kiskiskiw Days is Cree for 'he remembers' or 'teach.' In keeping with native traditional methods, Fort George - Buckingham House is hosting guest storyteller, Eric Neistrom from Rocky Mountain House Historic Site. He will be joined by storytellers from various other aboriginal communities.

On Saturday afternoon, music will be provided by the Frank Stockall Band. Fishing Lake will provide a dance teacher to instruct various jigs and dances to all those who are interested. The staff will have ongoing game playing that makes learning a lot more fun.

There will be a display of education programs and special events offered by other historic sites in Alberta. The final display will be cultural education in the future. John Gray of St. Paul is developing a Cree language computer program and will be showing a prototype. These all represent the past, present, and future of cultural education and should be a lot of fun.

Staff

This summer we would like to welcome back Brenda Poiras. She will be joined by a former Bicentennial staff member, Margaret Young. From the many, many applications, we have hired Agnes Waskahat to complete our small but mighty staff.

Gift Shop

Once again the Gift Shop will be operated by the Friends of the Forts. This shop has a wonderful stock of local crafts that are sold to the public. Profits of this store go toward providing public programs at Fort George - Buckingham House and contributes to the future development of the historical site.

Seniors hear reports

Irene Magnusson

A very good turnout of members of the Elk Point Seniors Pioneer Circle met for Annual consultations on Tuesday, April 20 in their Centre. As is the habit, a Chairman was appointed for the meeting.

In his usual able fashion, Sid Holthe guided the program through the many reports, explanations and figures. Committees reported their activities: dances, floor curling, souvenir plates, bingo, memberships, etc., all received a hearing, were commented on and reports accepted. The final report, by Holthe, covered the financial activities of the group over the past year. Only one word covers the progress - successful.

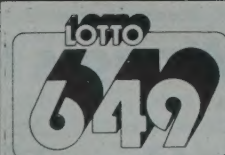

All last-year Executive were returned to their same positions, and 18 board members were suggested by fellow members; after acceptance, all were installed, and a Board meeting followed adjournment.

It was concluded, in the wind-up comments, that the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre is doing very well and may well be the envy of other similar groups. Much of the success may be attributed to Mr. Holthe, Phyllis Zarowny, Lillian Palinka, Hazel Hannah, Irene Miller and many other dedicated workers.

Memberships in the group are now due, at a mere $5 per year, a real bargain. Many events, too numerous to list, took place in the elegant new hall last year, and many more are coming up. See you there.

Elks and Royal Purple ring in new officers

Bruce Campbell

Staff Writer

The Elk Point Elks Club 460 and the Order of the Royal Purple 269 swore in their new executives during their Installation of Officers ceremony at the Elks Hall in Elk Point Saturday.

The Elks named Michael Chubey as their new Exalted Ruler, while Sharon Algot was sworn in for her second year as Honored Royal Lady for the Order of the Royal Purple.

Chubey told his fraternal brothers he "was honored and excited" to be the Exalted Ruler for the club.

In an interview after the ceremony, Chubey said he wanted to continue the Elks' tradition of raising money for the good of the Elk Point community.

"We'll do community work, helping handicapped children, just generally helping wherever we are needed," he said.

One of Chubey's goal is to set up a committee with other groups in town, such as the Elk Point Lions Club, for the purpose of raising funds for the planned extension at the Elk Point Hospital.

Another of his goals is to increase the membership at the club.

"We're always trying to make it bigger," he said. "I want to get more people to see what we're doing in the way of helping people."

Chubey has been a member of the Elks for 18 years and was last year was the club's Leading Knight.

Honored Royal Lady Sharon Algot said her goal was a simple one as she takes her second year in office.

"To make it through the year," she said with a laugh.

"I want to increase membership if possible. At least maintain our membership."

There are currently 52 members in the Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple.

The new executive to the two clubs were sworn in by District Deputies Metro Zalasky and Erica Bender, respectively.

Zalasky said the Elk Point clubs were strong representatives of the district and that he was sure this was "going to be a prosperous year."

Lions' journey sets its sights

Bruce Campbell
Staff Writer

The 14 walkers who participated in the 1993 10-kilometer Lions' Journey for Sight Saturday in Elk Point may have had some blisters and some sore muscles when they crossed the finish line at the Elks campground, but they also had smiles across their faces.

That's because they raised some $2,000 for a worthy cause as well as getting some exercise and some fresh air.

Half of the money raised will go towards projects in Elk Point and the other half will go towards the Lions' Eye Bank which helps pay for cornea transplant operations at the University of Alberta and the University of Calgary.

Raising the most money was Olga Tomkow who had pledges totalling $593.

Tomkow was a double winner. The 62-year-old also was the oldest participant in this year's walk.

"That's enough for me," Tomkow said with a laugh shortly after crossing the finish line. She said she always enjoys participating in the walk because -- "it's for somebody's sight -- it's a very good cause."

Pan Canadian took the top association prize raising $960, while the Elk Point Boy Scouts raised $269.

All 14 participants agreed on one thing -- besides the fact it was a worthy cause -- the toughest part was coming up the ravine heading into the campground.

"That hill was a killer," Nathan Harper said, who happened to be the first person to cross the finish line.

The youngest participant in the walk was 21-month-old Graham Zarowny, who had a little help from his family.

A napping Zarowny had no comment after the walk.

The hearty marchers weren't the only ones working hard.

Seven members of the Elk Point Lions made sure all the walkers had plenty of water and that they didn't take a wrong turn.

The seven Lions were: Ron Johnson, Glen Gulayec, Glenn Flanders, Doug Bassett, Jerry Kopeck, Walter Saranchuk and Gord Henry.

The 14 walkers in this year's Lions Walk for Sight were: Nathan Harper, Joely Jenner, Sue Campbell, Marshall Kachmar, Cindy Lawrence, Terry Kopeck, Gerry and Terri Ehlert and the Zarowny family: Tim and Gloria and their three children, Mathew, 8; Garrett, 6; and Graham 21 months.

There were also two four-legged participants -- Scruffy and Koko were the only two canines to successfully complete the 10-kilometre trek.

North Eastern Alberta Summer Games

On July 2, 3 and 4, Provost, Alberta will be host to the North Eastern Alberta Summer Games. This event will be a stepping stone for selected athletes qualifying for the 1993 Alberta Summer Games to be held in Wetaskiwin, Alberta from August 5 to 8.

Provost is excited and proud to be hosting this special event that will showcase athletes from all over Zone 7. Plans are underway to make the weekend a special one for people of all ages and interests.

The weekend will start Friday afternoon with a parade and opening ceremonies followed by a "Sneaker" Sports Dinner. Entertainment is planned for the evening with a chance for people to visit and prepare for the upcoming events. Saturday and Sunday will be packed full with sporting events, cultural displays and workshops. Ceremonies on Sunday will bring the sporting festivities to a close.

Events scheduled to take place are: Badminton, Baseball, Equestrian, Golf, Softball, Swimming, Synchronized Swimming, Tennis, Track and Field, Volleyball, Open Baseball, Open Golf, Open Tennis, Open Volleyball, Open Silhouette Shooting. Senior events include: Bocci Ball, Carpet Bowling, Cribbage, Darts, 5 Pin Bowling, Floor Curling, Golf, Horseshoes, Scrabble, Slowpitch and Snooker.

Provost would like to invite all interested athletes, coaches, managers and spectators to the North Eastern Alberta Summer Games. As the mascot SPIKE would say, "SPIKE IT YOU'LL LIKE IT!!!"

Registration forms and additional information are available by phoning Community Services at 724-3800.

DOUBLE FUN -- Olga Tomkow receives two plaques from Elk Point Lions' representative Glenn Flanders during the Lions' Journey for Sight Saturday in Elk Point. Tomkow had the most pledges by a participant and was the oldest walker.

Coaches make the difference

Elk Point Community Services is assisting the Alberta Sport Council in recognizing the contributions of coaches who have been an inspiration in our community.

Submit the name of the coach you feel deserves to be recognized to Community Services. From all the nominations received, ten Elk Point coaches will be selected to receive the "Coaches Make The Difference Recognition Award." Of these ten, one coach's name will then be entered in an Alberta-wide draw for $1000. If our nominated coach wins the Alberta draw, the grant will be allocated at their discretion to one or more athletic groups within our community. Last year's winner was Sid Scharger from Wainwright.

So give some thought to whom you feel would be deserving of the "Coaches Make The Difference Recognition Award." Then submit their name (and reasons why you think they should win) to Community Services. Phone 724-3800 for more information.

Fine Arts night mighty fine

Isabell Shoff

Staff Writer

The Elk Point Elementary School showcased their drama and choral talents with their first ever fine arts night last Wednesday.

About 250 people turned out for the evening which featured three plays by the Grades 2-6 drama club under the direction of Bernice Capjack and three songs by the Grades 5 and 6 choir under the direction of Don Buryn.

The choir started the evening off with the singing of O'Canada followed by a brief introduction and welcome by Mistress of Ceremonies Erika Neilsen.

The drama club then took the stage for the first play of the night entitled "Cinderella," based on the Walt Disney classic of the same name.

Most of the young actors executed their lines with ease and soon the audience was caught up in the story of the young woman's fight against her cruel stepmother.

Drama instructor Capjack is to be commended on her innovation at making a practical yet functional set using gym mats and boxes for this performance.

Following the play, the choir performed "Beauty and the Beast" from the box office movie of the same name. Their melodic voices blended in a harmonic showcase of many long hours of dedicated practise.

The second play of the evening was entitled "A Few Friends To Dinner" and was based on a book of the same name. The comical story depicted an average family's dilemma of mishaps occurring just before company was about to arrive.

Most adults in the audience got a good chuckle out of the performance which brought back memories of Murphy's Law "what can go wrong, will go wrong, when you least expect it."

Following the second play, the choir performed "Ever Green, Ever Blue," a popular children's song by recording artist Raffi. The song tells a powerful message about everyone's responsibility to save the Earth.

The third play of the evening was entitled "The Restroom" and was written and directed by Capjack.

It told the story of a common man's troubles while looking for his wife's cousin whom he had never met before.

The story was set in the back of the Stedman's store in Elk Point where John was left by his wife Alice to wait for Alice's cousin, Martha. The only problem was Alice couldn't remember what Martha looked like except that she had short, brown hair.

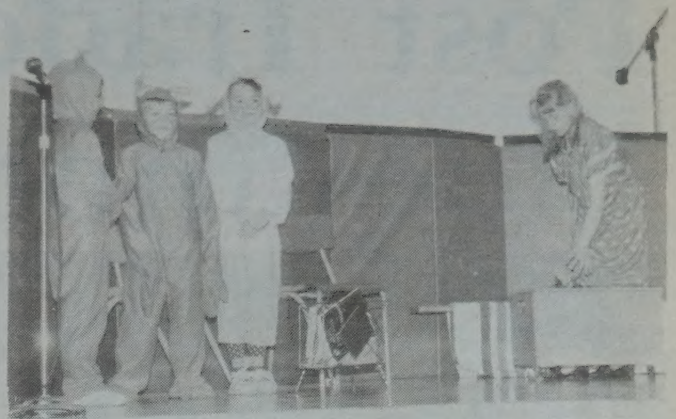

John was confronted by all types of people, but never did find Martha. At the end of the play the curtain was drawn and Martha appeared with long, blonde hair asking the audience if anyone had seen Alice!

The result was a humorous performance by some very talented young actors.

Choir director Don Buryn said he was very pleased with the evening.

"It was a great turnout for our first try," Buryn said.

About 70 students are enrolled in the Elk Point Elementary School's drama and choral clubs which meet after school. The clubs are not part of the regular curriculum.

FINDING SOMETHING TO WEAR - Cinderella (Romy Rohner) worries about what she is going to wear to the ball when three mice help her out in this adaption of the modern classic at the Elk Point Elementary School's first ever fine arts night last Tuesday in Elk Point.

COLOR PARTY WELCOMES SCOUTERS - A parade of flag bearers from the Elk Point Scouting Association was part of the welcoming ceremonies for the Northern Region Spring Meeting held in Elk Point April 17.

LLOYDMINSTER BROWNIES VISIT - A large contingent of Brownies from Lloydminster joined their Elk Point counterparts for a Travel Camp on April 21 to 23 weekend. A good time, including tours, crafts and games, was had by all. Here, the Brownies and their leaders display some imaginative masks which resulted from a session on Sunday morning.

Scouting representatives from all over northern Alberta converged on Elk Point for their Northern Region Spring Meeting on Saturday, and were warmly welcomed by a color party of Elk Point Scouts, Cubs and Beavers, and a message of greeting by Mayor Ed Buck.

Mayor Buck noted that this was a most appropriate time for the meeting, with Volunteer Week starting Sunday. He is "very impressed" with the Scouting organization and how it builds character in young people. Scouting in Elk Point began in 1926, with seven members. The first Scoutmaster was Rev. Smith. "I am very proud of the efforts of Scouting in this community," he told the gathering.

Following a full day of meetings, the group enjoyed a banquet which had among its guest speakers, MP Deborah Grey.

The Elk Point 4-H Multi Club would like to thank everyone who stopped at our booth during the Trade Fair. We really appreciate your continued support and encouragement.

Special thanks to all the parents and members who worked the entire weekend just doing whatever needed to be one. Without your help we would not have had such a successful and fun Trade Fair.

Below you will find a list of some of the many people who helped make this Trade Fair a success. As it is really hard to thank them as much as they deserve we hope that this will in some small way show them that we appreciate all of their help.

- Mr. Ray Lapierre, of Dairy World, for donating the milk.

- Ron and Sharon Smith of Home Town Grocers, for letting us keep the milk in their cooler until needed. - Shamrock Valley Enterprises, especially Murry, for trucking the golf course in for us.

- St. Paul Coop Mall, for donating use of the Golf Course.

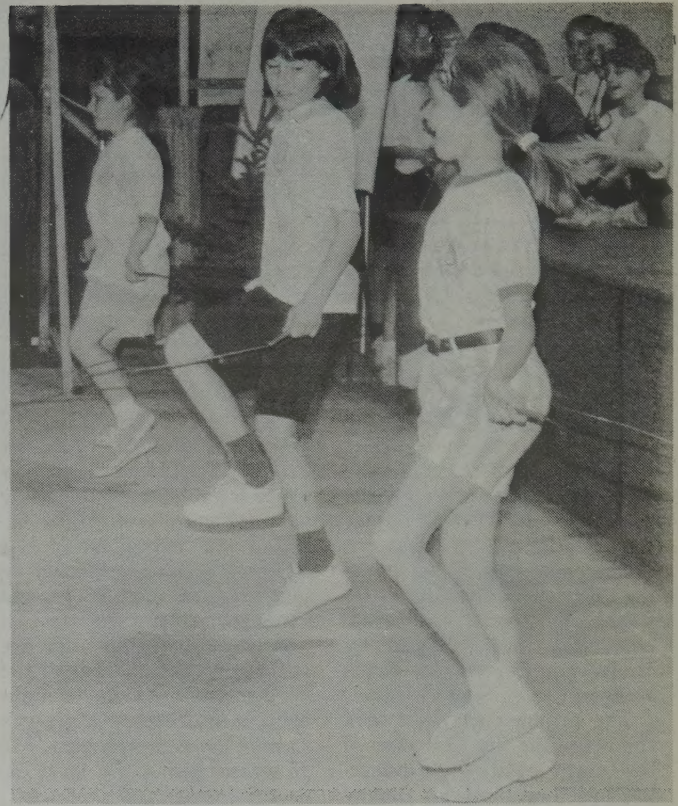

- To the many individuals who loaded, unloaded and moved this course throughout the weekend.

- Mr. Bert Nielsen & Gray Dawn Kennels, for sponsoring the Pet Parade prizes.

- Mr. Leigh Babcock, for donating the straw bales for the zoo and providing a truck for garbage.

- Mr. Bert Nielsen and Andy Tyschewich for trucking all those bales and helping HOP, SKIP AND A JUMP - Elk Point Elementary School's energetic Skipping Team put on a bouncy performance for the Trade Fair visitors.

KIDS ON PARADE - These youngsters displayed a tiny goat kid and a bouncy bunny in the Trade Fair Pet Parade.

STYLES FOR SPRING - Young models displayed the latest spring apparel in the fashion show sponsored by Peggy Adomaitis of Leigh Morgan Fashions.

SPUN OUT - It's hard to tell which way is up after a ride in the Space Ball, and occupants tended to walk rather strangely when they emerged from the exciting ride.

JUST LIKE THE FAMILY ALBUM - The Old Time Photo Parlor did a roaring business at the Trade Fair, turning out sepia toned prints of families and friends in old time costumes, and offering frames in turn-of-the-century style.

- Dave and Twila Kenyon for the use of their Corral Panels.

- Mr. Dan Aebi, for giving us the opportunity to display and sell the Grand Slam Edition prints.

- Ron & Sue Herald, for their Mini-Donkey, Ducks, Guinea Pigs, and Pot-bellied Pig.

- Don and Sandy Woytkiw, for their pool for the Ducks.

- Lee and Mabel Wruth, for their miniature goat and 4 day old kid and their dwarf bunnies.

- Mr. Vince Foisy, for the Peacock and fancy chickens.

- Robyn Danyluk, for Patty her goat

- Ed and Anne Poitroski, for their puppies.

- Brian and Daphne Schnurer, for Bugs the bunny.

- Bill and Connie Currey, for the wonderful Angora rabbits.

I know that we have probably forgotten many people who were equally important and I hope that you will accept our apologies and thanks as you are ALL what makes our 4-H program work.

The survivors: a SADD story

Isabell Shoff
Staff Writer

Drinking and driving is deadly. Just ask Cheryl and Sharon Rohr.

Cheryl, 25, and her mother, Sharon, both from Sherwood Park, had their lives dramatically affected on July 23, 1987 when an Edmonton man unwisely decided to mix drinking alcohol and driving his vehicle with disastrous results. Since then the Rohrs have been on a long road of recovery and now therapy.

Last Tuesday their trip took them to the Two Hills High School and the Myrnam High School and on Wednesday to the F.G. Miller High School in Elk Point.

About 150 students from Heinsburg and Elk Point were on hand to hear the Rohr's SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) tale.

Cheryl, still unable to speak coherently, greeted the crowd, but Sharon had to translate her simple sentences. Her mother then told the students vividly of Cheryl's tragic accident.

Before the accident, Cheryl, 19, was on top of the world, Sharon said.

An accomplished skier with a bright smile, Cheryl, had just been approached to model ski wear for a company in Japan.

She was on her way into Edmonton with two of her friends when her Datsun truck was rear-ended by a drunk driver. The impact of the collision forced her vehicle to roll end-over-end twice before landing on the roof and pinning Cheryl with her head beneath the seat.

Her best friend, Adrianna Tatz, 19, was killed instantly while Cheryl and her other friend Carla Ashton, 19, were rushed to the hospital.

Sharon vividly retold the details of getting the dreadful knock on the door at 5 a.m. by the RCMP who told her to hurry to the hospital because they feared Cheryl wouldn't make it through the night.

"She seemed so small lying on the massive stretcher," Sharon recalled.

"Her head was swelling and they had a tube into her brain to relieve the pressure. Her face was so swollen you couldn't see her nose.

"There was nothing to indicate it was my daughter."

Sharon and her husband Gabe prepared for the worst, but Cheryl survived the night and ensuing weeks. Eventually a few tubes were removed, but Cheryl remained in a deep coma.

Every day the Rohrs would pray for Cheryl to awake, but she remained in the coma for four months.

When her eyes finally did open, she had no memory of the accident or the previous three months. She had no feeling in her left arm or leg, she couldn't speak or swallow, and she wasn't even able to blow her nose.

For the family, it was an incredibly trying ordeal.

"I used to wonder how we would ever get our lives back to normal," Sharon recalled.

But Cheryl was a fighter.

For five years she struggled to relearn all of the basics such as regaining her speech, her balance, her memory, and most of all her dignity.

Her family took her to the Rick Hansen Centre in Edmonton where she was able to use special machines to regain her strength.

Later she moved to the Glen Rose Hospital where she began to start swimming lessons and later friends helped her take horseback lessons as well.

Now Cheryl mounts and dismounts her horse by herself and goes swimming regularly. She is also getting back into skiing with the help of a special pole.

Her speech is still poor, but she can walk with the use of a cane and she can write her name. Her recovery is nothing short of miraculous.

But all people are not so lucky. That is why the Rohrs are emphasizing to students to start taking control of their lives.

"You have to stop and think wisely about your life," Sharon said.

"If you have to drink think about what you are doing and consider what can be the result. Don't be so stupid to get in a vehicle and home."

Sharon also stressed to the students to watch out for their parents.

"I see young people with designated drivers, but what about your parents? Say to your mom and dad 'I don't want you driving, because I love you too.'" Students appeared attentive and concerned throughout Sharon's lecture and many came up after to pick-up information and chat with the two women.

Next month Cheryl will be heading to the Upledger Institute in Florida for further therapy.

MIRACULOUS RECOVERY - Cheryl and Sharon Rohr were on hand at the F.G. Miller High School in Elk Point to tell Cheryl's tragic story about being hit by a drunk driver. Cheryl has spent six years in recovery and can now stand by herself.

GENERATION 2000 - The five members of the Generation 2000 cast which visited F.G. Miller High School last week on their cross-country tour range from a high school dropout who dropped back in and "opened many doors," to a former member of the Kwaikatlul Indian Nation who "got tired of hating myself" to a pretty average guy who claimed to like "girls, smokes, cars, Star Trek, Madonna, beer," not necessarily in that order. Through songs, spoofs of television shows, and zany skits, the group entertained and informed students about alternatives that can offer them a better lifestyle.

Volunteers enjoy pancake supper and workshop

GUIDES CLEAN UP - Elk Point Guides were busy serving and cleaning up at the Volunteer Week Pancake Supper. Many hands made short work of the dishes when these girls got to work.

Volunteer Week was held to honor these people, but they just kept on volunteering - cooking pancakes, washing dishes, setting up chairs, presiding over the guest book, or rushing off to work at functions of their particular volunteer organizations. Elk Point, population slightly under 1400 men, women and children, has 2737 volunteers, which indicates that some of those people are doing double, triple, quadruple - and more - duty for their community.

Thursday night, April 22, volunteers who were free from other duties for the evening gathered at the Seniors Recreation Centre, where they were served pancakes cooked by volunteers from Elk Point Town Council, and were waited on attentively by members of the Girl Guides.

Later in the evening, thirty six of these volunteers learned how to "prevent going quackers" from volunteer overload, from enthusiastic and entertaining speaker Sandra Young Kolbuc. Ms Kolbuc was introduced by Mistress of Ceremonies Terri Ehlert, who told the gathering that Community Services had facilitated the Volunteer Week events with funding from the Wild Rose Foundation, Amoco Canada, Norcen Energy Resources, Pan Canadian Petroleum and the County of St. Paul FCSS. The week's activities were organized by Volunteer Week Coordinator Daphne Schurer and an advisory board made up of volunteers.

Betty Callbeck brought greetings on behalf of the Town of Elk Point and encouraged everyone to keep on volunteering.

Sandra Young Kolbuc is a talented, enthusiastic individual, who among other qualifications is a certified NECHI and Alberta Best trainer, and has received and Alberta Energy Coach of the Year award. She is a rural Albertan, and said her father used to come to Elk Point to curl in bonspiels, and that former Elk Point resident Dr. Walter Buck was her first dentist, while her mother had once been Dr. Bauld's nurse. She now lives on a quarter section near Whitecourt, and has evolved the title of her workshop, "Chickens, Ducks and Geese" from her adventures NUTRITION MONTH COLORING CONTEST - ECS students at Elk Point Elementary School took part in the Nutrition Month Coloring Contest sponsored by the Northeast Home Economists Association. Prizes were presented to the winners by Cheri Lindquist. Winners from the Tuesday and Thursday class were (above, left to right) 1. Leanne Bjornstad, 2. Travis Lindquist, 3. Jennifer Uttley, 4. Nicholas Myshaniuk and 5. Colin Ference. Monday and Wednesday class winners were (below, left to right) 1. Scott Lindquist, 2. Valerie Friesen, 5. Joshua Boyko and (not shown) 3. Megan Friesen and 4. Bailey Weir. The posters will be on display at the Co-op.

VOLUNTEER LUNCHEON - Deanna Easthope (left) and Claire Ference were among the volunteers honored by Elk Point Community Services at a luncheon during Volunteer Week. Among other volunteer tasks, Mrs. Easthope is the treasurer of the Canada Day Committee, while Mrs. Ference has been a part of the Volunteer Week Committee and created the handsome banner which proudly announced Elk Point's volunteer hours (right). with her livestock.

Workshop participants were asked why they volunteer, with answers ranging from "someone has to do it" to "it keeps me out of mischief." She suggested that setting goals and priorities in one's own life, as well as in the organizations for which they volunteer, will reduce stress and increase productivity and satisfaction. "If you change 'shoulds' to 'choose to' and 'can'ts' to 'won'ts,' it makes it a choice, and gives you control and power," Ms Kolbuc said, noting that attitude makes a big difference. "My father always said, 'it could be worse,' and taught me to look on the lighter side."

The reasons for stress in organizations was explored, and numerous helpful solutions put forward. In conclusion, Ms Kolbuc also offered suggestions for a personal 'stress buffer shield' which included learning to say 'no' without guilt and looking on the bright side.

Fun and furry horse show

Charlene Baker
Elk Point Agricultural Society

On Saturday, April 10 at the Elk Point Agricultural Society's Indoor Sow Arena, the first annual Fun and Furry Horse Show took place, sponsored by the Tall Horse Saddlery Store of Edmonton.

Even with the weather, wet and snowy, the show was a big success with 37 entries at an entry fee of $12 for the whole day and all classes, or $4 for a single class. It was a great Show Season starter and all participants found out the areas they had to work on before the summer show season.

Dianne Jackson of Shady Grove Farm of Bonnyville was our judge for the day and did a fine job. Trophies and gift certificates were awarded to the Furriest Horse, won by Melissa Snelgrove and "Buffy," from vermilion, the Youngest Rider was 10 year old Lesley Farkash of Vermilion on "Queenie." The High Point Junior trophy and prize were won by Shanna Baker of Elk Point riding "Serene Liberty Lee" and the Senior High Point went to Kim McMinnis of Vermilion, riding "Minimax."

The first and second place prizes were all donated by the Tall Horse Saddlery Store and its owner Duane Warren. Ribbons and trophies were donated by the Elk Point Ag Society.

WHAT'S NEWS AT THE LIBRARY?

FROM KOOTY WITH LOVE - Diane Wolanuk of the Volunteer Week Advisory Board (right) presented Doreen Mayner of the Elk Point Library with a copy of the book, "From Kooty With Love," by Volunteer Week keynote speaker Jon-Lee Kootnekoff.

ELKS QUAD WINNER - Mike Boratynech (left) of the Elk Point Elks Hockey Club handed over the keys of the 4 X 4 Quad raffled by the club to lucky winner Roger Robichaud of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. The raffle was a fundraising venture which helped to support the club, and the Elks would like to thank the community for the great support they received.

PTA - May 12

F.G. Miller High School Parent Teacher Association will hold their final meeting of the 1992-93 school year on Wednesday, May 12 at 7 p.m. in the school. The agenda will feature more discussion on the discipline strategy. Please come and give your input.

Friends sponsoring bingo

The Friends of the Elk Point Public Library will be sponsoring a bingo at Club Bingo in St. Paul on Tuesday May 11, in the evening. Come out and play and help support the library.

The Elk Point Public Library Board and staff would like to thank Amoco Petroleum Co. Ltd. for their donation of $500 and Don Joo Service Ltd. (Tempo) for their donation of $200 to the library. The support of these firms is very much appreciated.

Merna Summers on Alberta author, was well received by the 13 participants at the writer's workshop and author reading on April 27 in the library. We are very grateful to the Northern Lights Library System and the Canada Council for making this visit possible. Those present discovered that there is a writer within all of us, mind you some had greater potential in writing than others.

The answer to last weeks question, "What citizen of Alberta has held all of the following titles: author, politician, agriculturist, lecturer, mayor of Calgary and Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta?" Is an very fine gentleman by the name of Grant MacEwan. You can read more about this person in the book "GRANT MACEWAN'S JOURNALS" edited by Max Foran.

Did you know that the library carries the newsletter "THE BULLETIN" it is put out by the Government of Alberta and is a most useful service for the job seeker. NEW BOOKS: Ann Rule has written another chilling true story of obsessive love, murder and betrayal. Her newest book is called "EVERYTHING SHE EVER WANTED." "MARLENE DIETRICH" is a landmark biography by Maria

Riva. It is the full-scale, riveting, hitherto untold story of Marlene Dietrich as only her daughter can write. For our science fiction patrons we have the book "RED MARS" by Kim Stanley Robinson. This is the first of three novels that will chronicle the colonization of Mars. A new video in our video collection for John Wayne fans is called "RED RIVER." Packed with authentic detail and photographic realism, the film has you riding with the saddle-sore cowboys as they battle the dust, rain, heat and frustration that accompany a long, hard cattle drive. For our young patrons we have the following videos: Disney's Goof Troop "Goin' Fishin'", Shari Lewis's Lamb Chop's Play Along, "ACTION STORIES" and Oscar Wilde's "THE SELFISH GIANT."

Elk Point Municipal Hospital and the Hospital Auxiliary joins Health Care Organizations across Canada in celebrating Canada Health Day. This annual event is co-sponsored by the Canadian Hospital Association and the Canadian Public Health Association. Canada Health Day is celebrated each year to commemorate Florence Nightingale's Birthday.

This year's theme "Caring About Health.....Everyone's Responsibility" chosen in recognition of the significant role played by human health (mind, body and soul) in our community. When we work together to protect our personal health, we, in turn, lessen the burden on our health system and take steps to improve our own well-being.

Everyone Welcome to help Us Celebrate

Canada Health Day Friday, May 7

from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.
